

Insertion modeling and verification of programs

Alexander Letichevsky

Glushkov Institute of cybernetics,
National Academy of sciences of Ukraine
Kiev, Ukraine
e-mail: let@cyfra.net

ABSTRACT

Insertion machine for solving program verification problems is described. The problems to be solved cover creation and proving of verification conditions for Floyd method, generating symbolic traces, proving reachability and safety properties, generating invariants etc. The approach also covers parallel programs and hierarchical software structures. The development of flexible open deductive system based on SMT is discussed.